Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

THE WAR —

The war in the skies continued through the week with the British still holding Nazi bombers in check. Raids did not lessen and the total damage to London piles higher and higher, but Hitler has failed to gain anything resembling command of the air. The Nazis use a varied system of assault, for a few days sending planes over singly or in small groups and often, then shifting to mass attack. Some days and nights as many as 1,000 will swarm over Britain. It is probable the mass attacks are too costly to be kept up every day as big attacking formations nearly always lose numerous units.

The RAF shifted its attack back to Berlin and other German cities after concentrating several days last week on channel ports and munition dumps in France and Holland. Two nights within a week British bombers have kept Berlin awake for more than five hours as planes have crossed and recrossed the German capital aiming bombs at vulnerable points. At the same time channel ports are given a daily going over by the British. Many oil depots are reported destroyed in these attacks.

Lack of oil supplies may be one reason the Nazis are not increasing the number of planes sent to Britain. Hitler threatened two weeks ago to send as high as 10,000 a day but it is doubtful if a quarter the number has crossed the channel in any one day. Reports filter out of England indicating many Nazi pilots are so inexperienced members of the Gestapo accompany bombers to keep fliers from turning tail before engaging the enemy.

British have reported the completion of a new, advanced type fighting plane they vow will transfer the air battle from over their own heads before the coming spring.

One domestic affect of the signing of a pact by Japan, Germany and Italy was the tightening of the war materials embargo on the former. No scrap iron can be now forwarded to the Nipponese. Sen. King of Utah has introduced a bill in Congress giving the President authority to scale down British war debts and suspend the Johnson Act for them. The bill would provide for leases on British bases at Singapore and other Eastern points.

100 U. S. tanks of world war days have been withdrawn from storage and are heading towards Canada. These are too out-moded for use against modern German war machines but may be shipped to Egypt after serving for training purposes in Canada.

Hundreds of persons desiring to leave the Orient are jamming ship offices at Shanghai since the Japan-German pact made war between this country and the Japanese more imminent. Some Americans unable to leave have been shipping their valuables home. The Standard Oil Co., has forbidden employees taking their families to the Orient.

Britain appears to have fallen into a neat trap when British warships accompanied Gen. DeGaulle to Dakar. The stage was set by Berlin the first act being the sailing of French warships unmolested past Gibraltar. Failure of French forces at Dakar to surrender to DeGaulle and the British may be a severe blow to British prestige. To have tried to take the port by heavy assault would have been the last straw to French-British friendship strained severely since the battle of Oran.

POLITICS —

Nomination of Bruce Barton as Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate is popular throughout the state. Barton is a highly regarded businessman and will strengthen the chances of Willkie in New York.

The undercover boom for Jim Farley for the Senate failed to materialize in the Democratic convention this week—possible because Jim did not want to run. Re-nomination of Sen. Mead was greeted with pleasure by Republicans who feel he is much easier to beat than Farley.

Governor Lehman declared in a speech at the Democratic state convention that defeat of Roosevelt would be an encouragement to Hitler.

AHS Faculty Adopts Noon-hour Rules for Pupils

Members of the faculty of Addison High School, with the cooperation of Principal Irving Gladstone have formulated a set of rules and regulations to govern the students during noon hours. There has been some confusion owing to rural or commuting students eating lunches in the building, some students being back for extra-curricular activities and others just being in the building.

The new rules will go into force immediately and students and parents are asked to cooperate to make for less confusion in the building during the noon hour.

Grades one through six may be admitted at 12:40 and must go directly to their home rooms. All teachers are to be on duty at 8:30 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. and have home rooms open. All teachers are to have complete authority and are expected to supervise pupils during school day regardless of grade.

Non-commuters, or students living in the village are to be absolutely kept out of the building during the noon hour except those students desired by a teacher for special work, in which case the teacher or must issue a pass which will be taken up by the teacher on duty downstairs. Students in extra-curricular activities such as intramural sports must bring lunches on day of activity. Written permission of parents must be presented by non-commuting students who desire to eat lunch in the building. Athletic squads, commuters and non-commuters must enter the building by south rear door at 12:30 and remain in locker rooms without unnecessary disturbance until accompanied to the gymnasium by Mr. Miller. No others are to be allowed in dressing rooms.

The following rooms will be open to lunch students, which rooms must be used, regular lunch room 14, either room seven or eight, room 21 and lower grades from one to six inclusive will vary from week to week.

Teachers on noon duty are to be in the lunch rooms while students are eating. Any student leaving the building at noon cannot return after 12:30 until the bell at 12:45. Grades five, six, seven and eight will use the south door of the building.

All students must be out of the building at 4 o'clock unless in a classroom under the supervision of a teacher.

It is hoped that with these rules in force and with faculty and students cooperating, that there will be fewer students in the building in non-school hours so that those there may study or work unhampered.

South Abutment Base For New Bridge to Be Poured This Week

Two shifts of workers being employed on project— Temporary bridge made safe for children—Over 250 barrels of cement to be used for base of South abutment.

Construction work on the new bridge is advancing at a rapid rate due to a good break in the weather and a two-shift day for the workers. Destruction of the old bridge started last week when an acetylene torch was applied to some of the old steel work. The abutment at the south end of the bridge was torn down and a place made for the construction of the new abutment there. It is expected that the workers will begin pouring concrete this week. Steel piles have been driven deep into the earth. About 10 feet of earth will have to be excavated from inside the steel grooved and fitted piling and concrete will be poured there to make the base for the abutment. The first shipment of concrete will call for about 270 barrels of cement to be poured into the hole there as a base before construction of the abutment.

The huge clam shell digger is busy night and day excavating earth, rock, wood and other material from the water level and below to make way for the concrete base.

Traffic is now used to be routed around Wombough and Wall streets and across the temporary bridge and no accidents of a major nature have occurred in the area in spite of the fact that there are three short curves.

The temporary bridge was dangerous to children and the contractors realized that younger children might slide between the rails and into the river and so a third rail has been placed close to the bottom of the fence posts so that children will be unable to slide from the bridge.

Parents are asked to cooperate by warning children not to play on the bridge as the wood beam between the walk and roadway is not high enough to keep children from the road should they get fooling on the bridge. One of the plates, being the contractor on the old bridge and the road superintendent at the time of construction is to be placed in the library for future generations.

BARTON vs. MEAD

The choice of Bruce Barton to campaign for U. S. Senator against the incumbent Jim Mead assures a vigorous and colorful drive for votes.
The issue will be definite and simple: the Republican Congressman, Barton wants nothing to do with the New Deal, while Democrat Mead bows
willingly and constantly before the throne.

Mr. Mead claims to have the blessing of Mr.
Roosevelt whereas Mr. Barton is Mr. Willkie's choice and it is conceded by the GOP state organization that his appearance on the ticket will lend it strength. While Barton has attained to a high place in the business world, like his opponent he was not born to the purple but won his success by intelligent, hard work long persisted in. He knows what it is all about and has the ability to shoot most telling verbal darts into the weak spots of the New Deal.

REPUBLICANS AGREE ON GILBERT

Republicans of the Seventh District Judicial Convention named County Judge Lewis A. Gilbert, of Newark, Wayne County, as their candidate to succeed the late Judge Clyde W.
Knapp. One of the seconding speeches was made by Judge Edwin C. Smith, of Steuben County.
The nomination of Judge Gilbert was made after many other candidates had aspired to the position. Tradition, if it was to be followed, suggested a candidate from Wayne County. Some were inclined to a change in the routine, and candidates appeared from other sections of the district. The Rochester Convention, held last Tuesday, finally ironed out all difficulties with an endorsement and recommendation that an other judgeship be established in the Seventh District.

Judge Lewis Gilbert is a native of Wayne County, following his father's footsteps in the profession. He has a host of friends, well-wishers and enthusiastic supporters who must feel the gratification that comes with such an endorsement. He will make a capable jurist.

that is golden—not silence.

DRAFT BOARD IS O. K.

Mayor Stimpson is to be congratulated on his choice of the local draft board recommendation.
Every resident of this section can expect fair play from the individuals selected to fill this important task. Men of such outstanding integrity, confidence and reputation for fairness are rarely found in one community.

The Board, if approved by the Governor, will be Arthur J. Berns, Eugene H. Gorman and Joseph N. Pfeiffer. Since these appointments cannot, by any stretch of the imagination, be termed "political", approval should be forthcoming without delay.

We believe that the voice of the entire community is expressed in common. The young men of military age will receive every consideration
when called before these gentlemen. Their task will be a difficult one, and they will discharge the duties with credit.

A doctrine which is able to maintain itself, not in clear light, but only in the dark, will of necessity lose its effect on mankind with incalculable harm to human progress. —Prof. Albert Einstein

AMERICA'S FEAR PSYCHOSIS

It would relieve the national tension if the President would cease playing the national nervous system like an electric organ—improvising diplomatic, political and economic fugues in which the red of indignation and the purple of righteous indignation invariably pale into inconclusiveness and fear — fear of everything and everybody.

For 20 years we have had time and no
money; now we have money and no time.
—Lieut. Col. L. A. Codd, Army Ordnance Association.

INDUSTRY MUST FLOURISH

Wendell L. Willkie deserves credit for stressing the fact that industry must flourish if agriculture is to prosper. "The farmer," said Willkie, "should get a greater share of the national income, but this objective would be immeasurably easier to reach if our national income were growing rapidly instead of remaining practically stationary."

Stagnation of industry and consequent unemployment obviously rob the farmer as well as the worker. If those who live in the cities are without income they surely cannot buy what the

COWARDS die many times before their death; the valiant never taste of death but once.

farmer raises to sell. There is no such thing as "independence", on the contrary all groups and classes of people are inter-dependent. What affects one, affects all.

OUR DEFENSE COMES FIRST

It is about time the level-headed citizens of this country took thought of the way in which we are being pushed towards participation in this latest European war. Pushed, we repeat with emphasis, for the committee headed by Editor White has been able to swing public opinion away from a viewpoint of isolation to one of "help Britain and hang the consequences".

That is the reason we accepted with a public shrug of the shoulders the high-handed deal by which 50 American destroyers were handed to the British by the President without consulting Congress.

The next demand being made by this committee is that we turn over to the British our only flying fortresses, the only aircraft of the kind in the world, together with some high speed torpedo boats built expressly for our navy. If that program is adopted by the President in the same manner in which he gave Britain our destroyers, then the committee is said to have as the next item on its agenda, "all our aid to Britain".

This country has no reason to send another army into Europe to attempt to settle a quarrel which has smoldered there since the hordes of Hannibal descended on Rome. We have paid dearly for every bit of army and navy equipment available for our own defense, and that defense MUST be kept steadily in mind at all times. To give away further essential planes and fighting boats is to weaken that defense, just as we have been weakened by the planes and guns shipped to France which are now in Nazi hands.

It is too early to be lulled into a sense of security by the gallant stand of the British over their Island. The true picture of destruction in Britain is so terrible we should face the facts and realize Hitler may yet conquer the British and take all their weapons including what we send over. Aid Britain we should, but not at the expense of our own defense. That must come first, regardless of the well-meaning sympathies of any group.

ported in some degree by a monthly check

STASSEN STRATEGY

The unfortunate death of Senator Lundeen, Farmer-Labor member from Minnesota, gave Governor Harold Stassen a grand opportunity to advance himself to the nation's capitol.

The governor, only 33, made a fine impression on the country generally as temporary chairman of the Republican national convention.
While age eliminated him as a possibility for the presidential nomination, he is eligible for the senate. It would be a simple matter for him to project himself into that body by appointment.
Not only does he decline to do that, but he says
he will appoint no man with the understanding that he is to step down in two years in Stassen's favor.

That's plain and understandable talk. Stassen hopes to spend two more years in the governor's chair. After that, if Willkie wins, a cabinet post might be more to his liking than the senate.

It is all very well to think of America
as a melting pot, but one must remember that some things won't melt unless we make a very hot fire for them.

THE VALUE OF VISION

Four out of five youngsters reach college age with defective vision. That is tragic! And it is worse than tragic to think that many boys and girls may be failing in school work through no fault of their own. Failure in school can seriously handicap a child throughout life.

Now is the time for parents to think seriously about their children's eyesight. The close concentration of reading, study, and home work make heavy demands upon young eyes. School authorities recognize this and do everything possible to safeguard the vision of children in school.
Parents should have children's eyes examined by competent eye specialists and have the home
lighting checked by an expert to be sure it's safe for seeing.

WHY DO THEY DO IT?

With some knowledge of the traffic laws in Pennsylvania, and the results of infractions, it is amusing to note the abandon with which automobile operators from that state use New York highways.

It seems that when they cross the line into
New York, the penchant for speed and recklesness asserts itself. Passing cars on hills, or curves (and we have suffered Pennsylvania penalties for less) is the rule, not the exception.
Invariably, or at least in the majority of cases,
those cars that are operated recklessly in such circumstances bear Pennsylvania plates.

Pennsylvania sees the "don't" side, while New York gets the intimate glimpses of the other character.

amounts to $15,275,879.

U. S. AIRCRAFT EXPORTS INCREASE

Washington—The Commerce Department has announced that the export of U. S. aeronautic products in August reached a new all-time high record of $37,439,573. United Kingdom purchases during August were 79 per cent of the total.

JUST IN PASSING

Steel mills now have a big backlog of orders. There has been some speculation regarding need of side-tracking ordinary deliveries to meet defense needs. However, a survey has shown that steady production at or near capacity, month after month, will leave a wide margin over usual requirements. In that respect the United States is far ahead of European countries.

FEWER MEN ON RELIEF ROLLS

Unemployment in the United States declined to 7,657,000 in August, compared with 8,279,000 in the month preceding, according to figures just released by the National Industrial Conference Board.

Figures for the month of September are not available, but it is expected that another large decrease
will be effected prior to the recapitulation.

FOOD-LOVING PARIS TIGHTENS BELT

Paris under German occupation finds itself with less food in 1940
than at any time since the famine of 1870.

For a people who have always eaten well, Parisians have had some rude gastronomical shocks since the Germans came. Butter and oils disappeared and French cooks were baffled as to how to cook what they could get to cook.

Those who eat out have fared better than those cooking at home for the restaurants and hotels have managed to get sufficient supplies,
but new restrictions go into effect during October. Pastry has seemed plentiful, lobsters, oysters and shell fish arrive almost daily, a few vintage wines are plentiful. However, ordinary "vin rouge" which French homes always were able to buy for a few francs a liter has become difficult to get.

Cheese, milk and coffee have disappeared. Ice, spaghetti, milk, chocolate, salt, potatoes and soap
are all exceedingly scarce and only obtainable by long waits in line by those with food cards.

PROPOSES 4,000 AIRPORTS

Washington—The Civil Aeronautics Authority proposes that 4,000 airports be developed throughout the nation as essential to the national defense. Improvements to 116 New York airports at a cost of $17,473,582 is recommended as a part of the program. Just how this suggested plan would be coordinated with the plans announced by the Works Projects Administration in Albany, for the construction of 150 permanent landing fields for attack ships and bombing planes has not been explained.

Among the funds recommended
for New York fields were: $493,667
for Buffalo; $292,500 for Auburn; $277,500 for Batavia; $282,500 for Canandaigua; $277,500 for Cortland; $539,106 for Elmira and $460,- 000 for Endicott—just to mention a few of the larger sums.

"No Third Term" Sentiment Grows

New York—Sentiment against a third term, particularly among former Democratic supporters of President Roosevelt, is swelling to huge proportions throughout the country, according to a survey made by the National Committee of Democrats-for-Willkie.

The possibility that Wendell L.
Willkie may break into the Solid South is indicated by the survey which found the anti-Third Term sentiment intense in the Democratic stronghold. This would be the first time any Republican candidate for President has won any electoral votes in the South since 1928.

Statement by Valentine

In a statement released by the National Committee's headquarters
at 122 East 42nd Street, New York City, Alan Valentine, President of the University of Rochester and Executive Director of the organization, said:

"We are deeply impressed by the number of real Democrats who are rallying to support of Wendell L.
Willkie. There is sincere resentment against Mr. Roosevelt's attempt to make himself the third Third Term President of the United States and that resentment will be shown at the polls on November 5
through the election of Mr. Willkie, the true Democratic candidate for President."

Principle Deserted

Most of the Democrats who are supporting Mr. Willkie are doing so because they feel that the President has deserted the traditional principles of the Democratic Party.
Mr. Valentine said. They feel that if their party is to be preserved the tendency away from democratic principles must be arrested and the party re-directed along the lines
laid down by its founders, he said.

DIES COMMITTEE GETS $35,000

Washington — The House Com-

total of $200,000.

CHINA TUNGSTEN ARRIVES

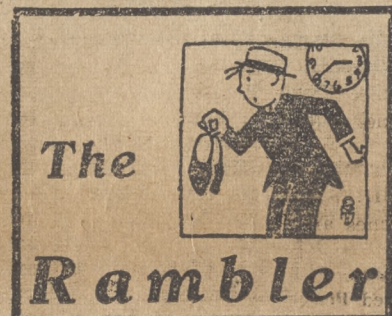

New York — The freighter Bir-

China. While details of the cargo were veiled in secrecy it was reportedly bringing 5,000 to 6,000 tons of tungsten ore worth $4,000,000. It was suggested that this vital defense material was in part pay-

$25,000,000 made to China through the Export-Import Bank.

DOUGHBOYS' CUISINE COST

1.2 cents over the last fiscal year.
The rise in cuisine costs, explained quartermaster — general Maj. Gen.
Edmund B. Gregory, would be due to the mounting costs of foodstuffs.

U. S. SOLDIER DEVELOPS NEW TYPE BOMB

SAN DIEGO, California—Master Sergeant Frank Newton, head of the ordnance department at Fort Rosecrans, has developed an aerial bomb which he contends can have its destructive capacity multiplied 50-fold. Newton claims that a 2,000 pound bomb with this revolutionary development could be given the annihilating effect of a 100,000-pound missile without any increase in weight. The rate of detonation is governed by the amount of oxygen introduced.

Sermonette

On America's Faults and Failings

We have debased the heritage our fathers won for us, a heritage of freedom to do the will of God; we have made ourselves a part and parcel of the world which has forgotten God. . . . We have glorified money. We have taught that the desire for it, far from being what the Bible calls it, "the root of many kinds of evil", is the mainspring of progress and the source of all good.
We have substituted clamor for culture, din for distinction, glamour for goodness, gadgets for godliness. . . . We have flattered the incompetent. We have been notable even in a lawless world for disregard of law. . . . We have acted as though almost any American had made the universe and had a right to do with it whatever he or she desired. We have taken God out of our schools, out of our arts, as far as possible out of our thinking, and have regarded religion as a tolerated minor art for good or antiquated people. . . .
Of course, there is much that is good, worthy, fine in our cultural life. In many respects this is a country more admirable than any yet seen upon the earth. But such faults and failings as these that have been mentioned are not casual flaws in an otherwise noble American life. They constitute a cancerous tissue which, if un-cured, will bring the body politic to putrefaction and to death. We are not weak merely in arms but even more in self-discipline.

TAKE IT EASY!

STOP ME IF THIS ONE— YOU'VE HEARD

Pity the youth who marries—
From fighting to gain surcease;
If his wife turns out—a drill sergeant,
And makes him her kitchen police.

He was too busy as a father to be on more than spanking terms with his son.

Mrs. Andrews: These sausages
you sent me are meat on one end
and breadcrumbs at the other.
Butcher: Yes, madam; in these hard times it is difficult to make both ends meat.

It's such a joy these days
to find a chap who has no axe to grind.

I'm in splendid condition, coach-
I watched my dad work all summer!"

Filling the Bill

"Listen, young fellow, the man who wishes to marry my daughter must have bright prospects. Whatever his trade or profession, he must have plenty of opportunity for advancement. Now what have you to say for yourself in that respect?"
"Plenty, sir, I'm just the chap.
My present position is the lowest in my firm."

Chief Clerk (to typist) — Miss Fairborn, I would suggest that you do not write letters to your young man during office hours. Smith, Jones and Company write me that they have received notice of a shipment of love and kisses instead of tar and axle grease they ordered.

John Smith went to the insurance office to have his life insured.
"Do you drive?" asked the agent.
"No," informed the applicant.
"Do you ride a bus?"
"No."
"Do you fly?"
"No."
"Sorry, sir," snapped the agent
cortly. "We don't insure pedestrians."

It isn't what we mean to do
That brings us fame—because
It seems we've got to do it first Before we get applause.

FOUND!

A soldier was seen walking about

The soldier grabbed the piece of

"Ah, that's it. That's what I've been looking for!"

Lunch For Learning Youngsters

AT five minutes after twelve, Monday through Friday, the neighborhood resounds to the shouts of hungry youngsters. They come dashing into the house ready to tear into the lunch you have ready for them, so they can get back for an inning or two of baseball or a game of hop-scotch before the bell rings.

Their lunch should include something hot—soup for instance. Accompany it with a jellied fruit or vegetable salad, bread and butter sandwiches and cookies for dessert. And of course, a big glass of milk. Another suggestion would be creamed tuna, carrots and peas on toast, milk, and a gelatine fruit whip or sponge.

One way to cut corners on cooking time is to include salads and desserts made with plain unflavored gelatine on the menu. They may be made in the early and undisturbed part of the morning, put in the refrigerator and then they will be all ready to serve when lunch time arrives.

These gelatine dishes have a glitter so appealing to youthful eyes, and also are packed full of food value. Shredded or chopped raw vegetables, and fresh fruits all can be tucked away within its shiny coat. No loss of valuable minerals and vitamins because they don't have to be cooked. A hint for mothers who have trouble getting the full quota of vegetables eaten, many children will go for them in a big way when wrapped up in shimmering gelatine.

Vitamin Salad

(Serves 6)
1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin
1 cup hot pineapple juice

1/4 tsp. salt
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 tbsps. melted shortening
1 cup diced bananas

Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Beat the egg and add the milk. Combine the two mixtures and beat until smooth. Add the shortening and banana. Drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat and cook until golden brown. Turn to brown on all sides. Drain on soft brown paper.

SAYS HE'S NOT DEAD

Man denies rumor by advertising in paper.

Burlington, Vt., — Indignantly, John Edwin Wadsworth, 78, of South Hero, Vt., inserted an advertisement in local newspapers that read:

"Mr. John E. Wadsworth wishes to say that report he is dead and buried is absolutely false."

Injured slightly in a bus accident—apparently the source of the rumor—Wadsworth first learned of his reported death when a friend arrived for the funeral.

New York State Briefs

BUFFALO — D. H. Lewis, president of the New York State Automobile Association, told the convention of that body, "because highways are a vitally important factor in national defense, public protests against diverting gasoline and motorists' taxes to non-highway uses will be vigorously renewed. The safe and swift movement of military equipment means that important arteries of transport must be improved soon and maintained at a high degree of efficiency."

EDEN — Rev. William E. McLennan, D. D., 79, social service minister emeritus of the First Presbyterian Church, Buffalo, died Wednesday, September 25, 1940. He directed the activities of Welcome Hall Settlement in Buffalo for 23 years until his retirement in 1932.

ALBANY — August automobile fatalities rose 20 per cent this year as compared with August 1939. Auto accidents totaled 6,625 with 237 persons killed and 9,153 injured.

ITHACA — George L. Hamilton, 66, professor of romance languages at Cornell University, died unexpectedly of a stroke suffered on the campus Wednesday, September 25, 1940. BEAR MOUNTAIN — New York State formally acquired the Bear Mountain toll bridge last week. The new state toll to be charged for use of the bridge is a flat 50 cents a car. The old toll was 80 cents for car and driver plus 10 cents for each additional passenger.

TRAGEDY ON TRAGEDY

NEW YORK — Four tragic deaths as the result of one lost job made the headlines last week. Donald O'Reilly shot his two young sons and killed himself after a frantic search for work during which he kept the loss of his job a secret from his wife and children. Because the belief a report he had made of a subordinate's inefficiency caused the latter's discharge, Robert Fletcher Sadler, sales executive for the International Machine Corporation leaped to his death from Manhattan Bridge. Sadler was married and was the father of two children.

ALBION — Blight this year has caused a loss of $232,875 to the tomato crop in Orleans County, according to the estimate of Orleans County Farm Bureau Agent, Arthur G. West. Only about 13,500 tons will be harvested from the county's 4,500 acres, a 60 per cent loss from the normal crop of about 33,750 tons.

NEW YORK — A first degree murder indictment was returned by a federal grand jury last week in New York—the first in 50 years. It charged Edward McGivney, 33, with fatally stabbing William, Pasht, 22, during a dispute at the U. S. Maritime Training School Barracks on Hoffman Island, in lower New York bay.

OGDENSBURG — As a part of the national defense program, three new immigration border patrol stations have been established in the St. Lawrence River district. The new units are at Potsdam, Lowville and Adams. Forty-three inspectors now operate out of the Ogdensburg headquarters, according to Chief Patrol Inspector David J. Benjamin.

PROFIT IN BITTERSWEET

Woman builds up thriving wholesale business.

Catawba Island, O. — Twenty-one years ago Mrs. Edward Rhodes began picking bittersweet for sale in nearby towns. Now she employs several assistants each fall to fill her many orders.

Mrs. Rhodes has contracts to supply bittersweet to wholesale florists in West Virginia, Oregon, Washington and Maryland.

Ottawa County bittersweet, said Mrs. Rhodes, is superior to that found in many places in Ohio because its berries are more plump and firm and their color more glowing.

ARCADE PLANT GETS BOMB SHELL ORDER

Aracade—The K. R. Wilson Foundation will make bomb shells for the British government, the contract being sub-let by the Symington-Gould Corporation of Buffalo. One thousand shells will be turned out daily when production gets under way.

The plant regularly turns out thousands of auto tools and also garage equipment. It employs 110 men at present.

Silk stockings, rayon dresses and street shoes are the expensive items in a working woman's budget, a recent report shows.

Uncle Ab says that most folks who fear they may overwork, never will.

SUSPENDED AUDITOR KILLS SELF

New York — Mark Otis, 50, of Queens Village, Long Island, suspended two weeks ago from State Insurance Fund of the New York Department of Labor, was found dead of gas poisoning in his summer cottage at Point Lookout last Sunday. Police termed his death suicide. His widow said Otis had claimed he was suspended because he was protecting some "big shots".

Fashion Decrees

by
TAMARA ANDREEVA

HOLLYWOOD is vying with New York as the fun and fashion center of the world now that Paris has been reduced to a city of memories. Whatever they may say about the hard-working Hollywood extras, fun is the film capital's chief industry: every day new dance palaces, restaurants, and music halls rise in the glory of searchlights and neon-tubing. There is the new Earl Carroll theatre — across the street from Columbia's Station KNX — the "Pirates' Den," an "atmosphere" hangout where you are treated with feigned roughness, thrown in the big for the duration of the evening unless you scream your way out, and you gotta be a healthy screamer to do it. They help you along by threatening an invasion of rats, a cold shower, or tickling with a palm frond. If you do well you are awarded a certificate for the Best Scream of the Season, like they gave to Rosemary De Camp, leading lady of the "Dr. Christian" air dramas.

IN STEP with the spirit of fun and play, Hollywood's clothes are delightfully casual. Yet all are impeccably tailored, like the soft corduroy slacks and dresses which CBS' Martha Tilton says are almost a uniform with her, and the smart California sues (Dan Scully-designed) which are favorites with June Storey, leading lass of Gene Autry's "Melody Ranch."

YOU SEE these sport casuals all along Hollywood Boulevard and the Sunset "Strip"—natties with thickly notched collars, large "feedbag" pockets, canny, concealed zippers, artfully executed buttons. The buttons are Hollywood's latest, and they come in a variety of colors, shapes, media. You see them made of cork-light yucca wood, and of tan cowhide. Songstress Frances Langford goes for these smart "yucca" (cow-puncher) buttons for her ultra-tailored suits.

DESPITE the semi-tropical climate and the proximity of Mexico, women's clothes here reflect little flamboyant color. They are subdued wools, unobtrusive crepes and sues. It's the men in Hollywood who have taken the color path. It's not unusual to see a CBS actor or announcer appear in a cucumber green jacket, a red gaucho shirt, or azure blue trousers topped by a camel's hair casual. Still and again, Hollywoodites know how to dress, and for their lazy, casual chic, as for their hot r-humbas and c-ongas to which Hollywood is swaying madly, they cannot be beat.

Membership Gain Foretold at Rally

The annual membership drive of the Steuben County Home Bureau closed on September 20, with the fifth annual rally day celebration. Members of the county Executive Committee, and of the Painted Post Home Bureau acted as hostesses at the luncheon which was held at the Painted Post Methodist Church. About 200 were present from 18 or 23 organized units.

The afternoon meeting was in charge of the county vice chairman Mrs. William Bond of Savona, who introduced the special speaker, Reuben Oldfield, Jr., of Bath. Mr. Oldfield gave a talk on demonstration on flower arrangements for many occasions. He stressed importance of well chosen flower containers with thought given to their particular use, their size, shape, and color. He used garden flowers now in bloom for the arrangements also some other native materials, autumn leaves, berries and milkweed pods.

One item of business was the appointment of three members of the nominating committee who will present nominees for the vacancies which will occur on the county executive committee at the time of the annual Farm, Home Bureau and 4-H Club Association meeting later in the fall. The committee appointed Mrs. Arthur Merritt of Kanona, Mrs. Olin Sharp of Howard and Mrs. Lyman Wetmore of Painted Post. Mrs. Mathewson county agent, announced various program features scheduled during the remainder of September and October. Mrs. Olive W. Mann, secretary at the Home Bureau Office at Bath, was introduced.

One of the big events of the day was the awarding of prizes to the units turning in the largest percentage of members. First for both renewals and new members went to C. & R. Unit, whose members live in rameron Mills, Risingville and that vicinity. The award was accepted by their unit vice chairman, Mrs. Douglas Vosburg. Second prize for second highest percentage of new members went to Freeman, memberships turned in by the vice chairman, Mrs. Aaron Kuhn. Second prize for second highest percentage of renewals went to the Maple City unit of Hornell, vice chairman, Mrs. J. P. Butler assisted by Mrs. M. C. Kimball. IS YOUR HOT WATER REGULATED BY THE WEATHER?

In mild weather when the fire is low or goes out entirely, do your hot water faucets run lukewarm or cold? When your fire is up in cold weather, do you get a scalding burst of steam? Do the pipes bang?

Watch out for those high temperatures in your hot water system. They cause the pipes to expand and leak—sometimes with expensive damage. They encourage lime and rust, spotting the laundry, discoloring water and fixtures. They waste fuel and water.

Save all with CLEAN, SAFE Water Heating. Have even temperature hot water at a turn of the faucet, the year 'round.

Prof. Nelson Brown, forester.

QUESTION. Is the present year a good growing year for trees?

Answer. Yes. One of the best. Although we had a late spring, there was ample and frequent precipitation to cause most trees to grow in height more rapidly than in several years. Trees and all forms of plant life have done exceptionally well during this season.

Prof. Brown.

QUESTION. How long can a fish live without food?

Answer. The answer depends on many factors. Probably the most important factors are species differences and the temperature of the water in which the fish is living.

The colder the water the longer the fish will be able to live on the food stored in its body. Fish are cold blooded animals and their body temperature is the same as the temperature of the water. If the body temperature goes down the chemical reactions of the body slow up so that the animal can exist at a lower rate.

At the zoological laboratory at Syracuse University we have had fish live as long as 20 months without food. They were killed at that time and their tissues were studied for the effects of starvation. They might have lived even longer than 20 months.—Dr. Lindeman.

Former Addisonite Euologized in Cleveland Paper

Edward E. Johnson, 80, a former resident of Addison, is still barbering in Cleveland, Ohio, in spite of his years. He has been in Cleveland over 40 years.

The Advertiser-Sentinel is pleased to publish a reprint of a story appearing in the Cleveland Press of September 9 which was sent to us by a friend. Accompanying the story is a picture of Mr. Johnson.

The story was a "by-lined" story, meaning it was written by a special writer. The heading reads, "Always Fond of Shears, Cleveland Barber Clips Way Toward Age of 80," by Jack Warfel.

The story continues: "Clipping steadily toward the age of 80, Edward E. Johnson, tonsor, today helped a new customer into his revolving chair and told him 'I've cut your father's, grandfather's and great-grandfather's hair.'"

"The customer was James Frank McHenry, 12, of 3590 Raymond boulevard, Cleveland Heights.

"Barber Johnson has been trimming over and around ears half a century and started his Cleveland practice 44 years ago in the Hollen Hotel.

"Then his patrons included Frank Rockefeller, brother of the late John D. Henry Blossom, Sylvester Everett, Harry K. Devereaux, 'Mr. Rockefeller' had his own shaving mug," Barber Johnson recalled. "Sky blue with pink roses and angels." The personal mugs were kept behind bars in rented parking spaces. "Mr. Everett used a mustache cup with lilies of the valley sprays."

"During the past 40 years Mr. Johnson moved from Hollenden to Frank Brown's Shop to Schofield Barbers to Oliver Bass' E. Ninth Shop to his present chair in Johnson Copeland's newly opened shop in the Erie Hotel. For a time he operated his own shop in the Republic Building.

"Born in Addison, N. Y., in 1860, he evinced an early fondness for shears, combs and razors, attempting to cut his own hair at the age of 15. Soon he began tending other people's heads and has never cut his own hair since. He always shaves himself, however, with a long, straight razor.

"He thinks man slipped several notches when he stopped depending on the open-edge razor and succumbed to safety-edged. 'Safety razors scare me', Barber Johnson confided. 'I used one once and cut myself.'"

"He attributes his stopping-vigor to 'a few cigars a day, good eating, a quick game of whist and a backyard game of baseball now and then'. His mother lived to 70 and his father died at 83, he added.

"Mr. Johnson, semi-bald himself, scoffs at external hair-growing-bait. 'Good eating and massage', he approved. He lives at 2205 E. 82d street, enjoys Rochester in the movies, thinks mustaches are coming back, and likes to scan E. Ninth street for familiar faces from the musty past.

Old Railroad Days Related by Former Glass Worker

By WILLIAM H. RIAL
Batavia, N. Y.

Eliahue Dorsey McGee of East Main street, Batavia, has many recollections to relate of his life while in the area of the Southern Tier and in Pennsylvania. As a boy he served as water carrier at Elkland, Pa., when the Addison & Northern Pennsylvania Railroad was constructed. One incident connected with the road during the early period was the experience of Ed ("Spike") Bryant, engineer, when near Osceola a calf ran on the track and the locomotive hit the animal, and the concussion threw Ed out of the cab, and he remarked, as he picked himself up, somewhat bruised, "I wish that blamed farmer would keep his livestock home."

Worked on Edison's Bulb

For years Mr. McGee was employed at the Corning Glass Works and while there helped in the experiments conducted by Thomas A. Edison, who spent a week at the plant, and succeeded in developing the electric light bulb. When William Jennings Bryan spoke from a hay rack at Hornell in 1896, Mr. McGee rode a bicycle through Addison to Hornell to see him. The highway in those days, of course, was rocky and dusty and wheelmen were looked upon as scoundrels of horses and a hane to carriage drivers, automobiles being unknown.

Escaped a Wash-Out

"I missed the Johnstown flood" said Mr. McGee (who is no relative of "Fibber" McGee). "I resided some time in the Pennsylvania city before the disaster of the dam burst". He carries a lucky rain check.

The American House in Mr. McGee's visitations to Addison, was conducted by J. & H. Eldredge, who were related to his family. The bus driver in the days he knew the hostelry had as driver the genial and popular Joe Ford.

Tribute to Wives
Long after the Civil War veterans in W. W. Angle Post, G. A. R., in Addison treasured this poetic tribute to the wives:

God bless the wives,
They fill our lives
With little bees and honey!
They ease life's shocks,
They mend our socks,
But—don't they spend the money!
When we are sick
They heal us quick
That is, if they love us.
If not, we die,
And then they cry,
And raise tombstones above us.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2 o'clock from the MacDowell Funeral Home, Front street with the Rev. John V. Axtell of the Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Lindley Cemetery. Bearers were Ray and Charles Rice, Ralph Decker and Charles Stewart.

Lambert, who was erroneously reported to have left Arkport, in these columns last week, has developed a fast and tricky offense and a hard defensive team.

Addison kicked off to Arkport and on the third play of the game the Arkport squad fumbled and the Miller coached Knights took advantage of the break and carried the ball from the 30 yard line to the 18 yard line of Arkport where the ball was lost on downs. Addison kicked and from this time on, the game was played in midfield, with neither team able to get a break or get beyond the opposing 35 yard stripe at any time. It was a case of play three and kick, play three and kick with monotonous regularity.

The high school team will go to Knoxville Friday and will play Jasper at Addison next Tuesday.

William B. Smith

William B. Smith, 62, Ovid, who was visiting at the home of his brothers-in-law, Charles and Ray Rice, Catherine Creek Road, dropped dead Saturday morning of a heart attack. He was born in Lindley, a son of the late George and Mrs. Katie Riffle Smith. He lived in Lindley throughout most of his life and engaged in farming.

It was there he married Miss Florence Rice of Addison, who survives him with a brother, Floyd, of Mansfield, Pa., and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Hyde of Geneva and Mrs. Andrew Heffner of Lawrenceville and a half brother, John Baker of Savona.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2 o'clock from the MacDowell Funeral Home, Front street with the Rev. John V. Axtell of the Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Lindley Cemetery. Bearers were Ray and Charles Rice, Ralph Decker and Charles Stewart.

Higher Prices For Commodities Indicated

High prices are almost certain in the coming months, according to the United States Business Service report of this week. The National Defense Advisory Commission has successfully coped with undue price advances this far, but as the demand approaches capacity to produce, the force of rising costs and tightening supply conditions cannot be offset fully.

The dynamic effect of capacity operations in most heavy industries, the broadening demand for consumer goods, rising costs, and the growing scarcity of skilled workers are bringing a very close balance between available supplies and consumption, particularly in the case of industrial products.

Federal farm policies also are tightening basic conditions in foods and cotton. Admitting the probability of a 5 per cent rise in commodity prices in the next six to nine months, the Defense Commission is endeavoring to prevent this rise from increasing to 10 per cent or 15 per cent.

The Service also forecasts an up-trend in production costs over the months ahead. The growing shortage of skilled labor already is tending to build up wage rates, and overtime payments will be increased by the lowering of maximum hours from 42 to 40 per week Oct. 24. Tax costs definitely are headed upward. These will augment the anticipated increase in raw material and semi-finished goods costs.

also failure to pay the taxes duly and legally assessed against said premises in the amount as hereinbefore specified and thereon agreed to be paid, and no suit or proceedings at law or otherwise having been commenced to recover the said mortgage debt, or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, according to the statute in such case made and provided, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in the said mortgage, duly recorded as aforesaid, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described by the subscriber at public auction at the front door of the Law Offices of Charles L. Crane on the West side of Main Street in the Village of Addison, in the County of Steuben and State of New York, on the 23rd day of November, 1940 at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day.

OUR COUNTRY This Land and Flag

An Editorial Reprinted From
The New York Times

WHAT is the love of country for which our flag stands? Maybe it begins with love of the land itself. It is the fog rolling in with the tide at Eastport, or through the Golden Gate and among the towers of San Francisco. It is the sun coming up behind the White Mountains, over the Green, throwing a shining glory on Lake Champlain and above the Adirondacks. It is the storied Mississippi rolling swift and muddy past St. Louis, rolling past Cairo, pouring down past the levees of New Orleans. It is lazy noontide in the pines of Carolina, it is a sea of wheat rippling in western Kansas, it is the San Francisco peaks far north across the glowing nakedness of Arizona, it is the Grand Canyon and a little stream coming down out of a New England ridge, in which are trout.

It is men at work. It is the storm-tossed fishermen coming into Gloucester and Provincetown and Astoria. It is the farmer riding his great machine in the dust of harvest, the dairyman going to the barn before sunrise, the lineman mending the broken wire, the miner drilling for the blast. It is the servants of fire in the murky splendor of Pittsburgh, between the Allegheny and the Monongahela, the trucks rumbling through the night, the locomotive engineer bringing the train in on time, the pilot in the clouds, the riverer running along the beam a hundred feet in air. It is the clerk in the office, the housewife doing the dishes and sending the children off to school. It is the teacher, doctor and parson tending and helping, body and soul, for small reward.

It is small things remembered, the little corners of the land, the houses, the people that each one loves. We love our country because there was a little tree on a hill, the grass thereon, and a sweet valley below; because the hurdy-gurdy man came along on a sunny morning in a city street; because a beach or a farm or a lane or a house that might not seem much to others was once, for each of us, made magic. It is voices that are remembered only, no longer heard. It is parents, friends, the lazy chat of street and store and office, and the ease of mind that makes life tranquil. It is summer and winter, rain and sun storm. These are flesh of our flesh, bone of our bone, blood of our blood, a lasting part of what we are, each of us and all of us together.

It is stories told. It is the Pilgrims dying in their first dreadful winter. It is the Minute Man standing his ground at Concord Bridge, and dying there. It is the army in rags, sick, freezing starving, at Valley Forge. It is the wagons and the men on foot going westward over Cumberland Gap, floating down the great rivers, rolling over the great plains. It is the settler hacking fiercely at the primeval forest on his new, his own lands. It is Thoreau at Walden Pond, Lincoln at Cooper Union, and Lee riding home from Appomattox. It is corruption and disgrace, answered always by men who would not let the flag lie in the dust, who have stood up in every generation to fight for the old ideals and the old rights, at risk of ruin or of life itself.

It is a great multitude of people on pilgrimage, common and ordinary people, charged with the usual human failings, yet filled with such a hope as never caught the imaginations and the hearts of any nation on earth before. The hope of liberty. The hope of justice. The hope of a land in which a man can stand straight, without fear, without rancor.

The land and the people and the flag—the land a continent, the people of every race, the flag a symbol of what humanity may aspire to when the wars are over and the barriers are down; to these each generation must be dedicated and consecrated anew, to defend with life itself, if need be, but, above all, in friendliness, in hope, in courage, to live for.

Cooper, Ace Circus Writer, Suicide

New York — Courtney Ryley Cooper, 38, former circus press agent and prominent short story writer, hanged himself in a Park Central hotel room Saturday, September 28.

Cooper was considered by the amusement world to be the nation's No. 1 circus fan, because of his long and intimate association with the "big top."

He was born in Kansas City, Mo., October 31, 1888, attended public schools in that city, but ran away while still a youth to become a circus clown. Later taking up newspaper work he was associated with Chicago Tribune, Denver Post, Kansas City Star and the New York World.

He wrote many articles on crime for the magazines, to which he also contributed a wealth of fascinating short stories of circus folk and life under the canvas tops. A close friend and writing collaborator of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, he recently returned from Washington, Mrs. Cooper said, where he had sought to inform government officials of German activities he claimed to have unearthed recently in Mexico, but allegedly was snubbed by the Washington authorities consulted.

B. E. Sackett, special agent in charge of the New York FBI office however, claimed that neither Hoover nor any member of the FBI had talked with Cooper about the Mexico matters.

Small Homes Use Various Exterior Wall Materials

Wood, brick, stucco, steel and stone are all being used effectively and attractively as outside-wall materials in the construction of new houses under the Federal Housing Administration program.

Exteriors of wood construction predominate in the new single-family houses, although in large percentage of new houses several materials are combined.

Wood
A well-designed wood structure, FHA officials say, properly braced and nailed, will be a strong frame for the house, resists shocks, and equalizes shrinkage. To a wood frame may be attached a great variety of other outside wall coverings, such as stucco, brick or stone.

Wood shingles are especially appropriate for informal-type houses. They may be sawed or split. So-called "hand-made shingles" have an interesting texture. Shingles may be laid in a variety of ways. The wood clapboard wall is interesting in appearance, inexpensive, and adaptable to many styles of house. The boards overlap and, depending upon their width, may be laid with varied exposure.

Brick
Brick is lending peculiar charm and beauty to many of the new FHA homes. Its use in conjunction with wood and stucco is popular. Brick makes a handsome wall. It is fire-resistant and, properly constructed, is durable and strong.

Stucco and Concrete
Flexible and adaptable to many styles of homes, stucco can be given great variety of color and texture. It is fire-resistant and, when correctly applied on proper wall construction, is durable and satisfactory.

Concrete may be used for wall coverings as large slabs or as brick or tile. Walls are left exposed or finished with coatings which retain the natural texture of the material. Fire-safe, stormproof, and not subject to decay, these homes usually involve low maintenance costs.

Stone and Steel
Stone, in localities where it is plentiful, is economical. The joints must be waterproof, and the texture adds interesting detail. It may be laid as solid walls or as a veneer attached to a wood frame.

Small homes with frames and walls of steel have already made their appearance in various parts of the country. Steel is strong, durable, and vermin-proof, and some types need no finish.

The point to remember in selecting exterior materials, according to Federal Housing Administration officials, is the various materials, whether for the modest or for the more pretentious dwelling, should harmonize in quality with each other and with the size, cost and class of house in which they will be used.

Thumbnail Sketch of 'Mortal Storm' At Avon Sunday

Professor Viktor Roth (Frank Morgan), beloved scientist and professor, finds his family torn asunder shortly after Hitler comes into power. His two stepsons (Robert Stack and William Orr) become storm-troopers. His daughter, Freya (Margaret Sullivan), breaks her engagement to her fiancé Robert Young, because of his Nazi activities. Her other sister, James Stewart, is exiled in Austria because he helped an old teacher escape out of Germany. Confined in a concentration camp, the professor's death is finally reported to his wife (Irene Rich), who takes the daughter and young son, Rudolf, out of the country. At the border, however, the family is searched and the daughter detained because of a manuscript, written by the professor and concealed in her luggage. Stewart hears of her predicament and takes a secret pass over the mountains back into Germany to rescue her. The plot leaks out and Robert Young is sent to apprehend the fugitives. They are sighted at the border, and when they fail to obey the command to halt, Young orders his troops to fire. Freya is killed, but before she dies realizes that she and Stewart have crossed the border to freedom.

Keeping Attractive is Every Woman's Problem

A lovely skin... a perfect figure... a personal attraction! These are the problems that perplex women and keep them everlastingly in search of new or late, methods to achieve the desired results.

Every baby girl is born to be lovely, but she must be groomed from birth to grave if she is to enjoy her full share of the good things life offers. Constant attention to skin is essential, and as she grows up the contours of body must be molded into fascination and intriguing lines. Bright eyes, stylish hair care, slender figures, shapely ankles and legs—are only a few of her problems.

Today there is absolutely no need for any woman to lack her full share of personality, and loveliness. Cosmetics, scientific methods, capable operators and a multitude of gadgets are brought into play when your thoughts go exotic. The most stubborn cases are overcome, but it all requires patience, endurance and the will to win.

Addison Baptist Church Plans Advance Program

The First Baptist Church of Addison will launch a two-year church school drive beginning Sunday, October 6, according to an announcement made this week by Rev. M. C. Johns, pastor of the church.

The campaign, which is called the Baptist Church School Advance, is a part of a national movement in all Northern Baptist churches in the United States. The announced goals call for a 10 per cent increase in enrollment and attendance each year for the next two-year period. If successful it will mean an increase of at least 200,000 in church school attendance in the Northern Baptist churches of America.

The Addison Baptist Sunday School had an average church school attendance last year of 76. An average attendance of 85 will be the goal for the next year.

The Baptist Church School Advance comes in answer to a plea of national leaders, in business and politics as well as in religious organizations, for a return of the people to Christianity as a way to stop the deterioration of morals and character among American citizens which many believe is a definite threat to Democracy and freedom.

Statistics, for instance, report that the crime bill in the United States is nearly $15,000,000,000 in a year; that American people spent more than $15,000,000,000 for alcoholic liquor in 1939, and $7,000,000,000 in gambling places. We have the alarming statement from the United States government that 14,000,000 petty crimes are committed in the United States every year, most of them by offenders under 21 years of age; that there is a major crime every 22 seconds and a murder every four. In the commercial world it is said that the widespread dishonesty of people is making business even more uncertain; it is charged that dishonesty is virtually becoming an American habit.

In politics, it is claimed that millions of voters cast their votes for personal gain, thus selling their very citizenship for a few dollars or a job or some other favor. A Democracy, say students of government, cannot exist unless the people feel a responsibility for maintaining honesty and decency in government.

Added to this sordid and discouraging picture is the unhappy disclosure that in the United States, 27,000,000 boys and girls under the age of 21 are today receiving no religious training whatsoever. Naturally it is not to be expected that these future rulers of our national destiny could be Christian in their outlook. The downfall of American Democracy is predicted when this present generation of youth become American voters unless heroic measures are taken.

It is with these facts in mind that many protestant denominations are redoubling their efforts to make the churches of the nation the great moral force they have been in the past. At present virtually all Protestant denominations are said to have Advance programs under way or they are making plans for such forward movements to start this year or next.

The Baptist Church School Advance to be inaugurated here has had every detail worked out as to methods, assignment of duties, literature for distribution, etc. Stress will be on attendance first, but improved teaching, better programs and modern equipment also are to be emphasized. Finally, definite plans are included for bringing church school members into active church membership.
